Good evening,

Sorry I was trying to get the most accurate numbers. The daily burn rate for the 14 people currently there is approx 3000 a day. If all were to remain constant on 8/30 with all the plane tickets, rental cars and per diem we would be at about 84k. I have to switch some people out this week unless we are told to send people home which LT Schmid, on scene, is trying to figure out. If we cut back on folks obviously the burn rate will go down. That's what info I have for you at this very moment.

Angelique

Hi Angelique,

I have not heard back from you on this and we need to know if you will need a ceiling increase as well as what is your current daily burn-rate. If you could provide this to me ASAP, would appreciate. Thanks.

Hi Angelique,

Can you let me know what your daily burn-rate is and also how significant of an increase are you going to need?

Thanks!

Good Morning,

My supply officer Mr. Council and SK1 Colon have been keeping track of what is obligated for this case. It's at about 88k with the 14 people total that were requested if they stay for 21 days. We had 10 initially and then 4 more were requested by the Area Command through my response officer currently with Mr. Wise in Colorado. I just want to make sure you are aware of this and LT Schmid who is my Response Officer was told by Mr. Wise that a considerable WAF increase was coming. Just wanted to touch base. I'm sure you know more than me money wise.

Barbara, you did not attach the corrected WAF with the new site ID #. I will not process the first one you sent, but I will need you to resend the corrected WAF before I can process it.

Please use the attached revised WAF. The SSID was just created and would like costs to be recorded under that ID.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks!
